Hollow scaffolding walls covered with white translucent veil spread like roots into the four directions. Light casts shadows of movements as people walk through or within the passways just wide enough to invite their presence.

Surrounded by trees | branches and roots.
Parking | traces and partitions, rythms and movements.

Roots | origins, memories ... is the nature of labyrinth of the journey or of the walls we erect in our wanderings.

Light | forseing a way through these ephemeral walls.
